Welcome to the 2012 Partnership Awards. This is a special morning in that we, the education community, have the opportunity to applaud the private and non-profit sectors for all they do to support learning.

Through your partnerships and support, over 26,000 students a year are able to receive a world-class education. Whether it is through training at your facility, witnessing real-world experiences as a volunteer member of your staff, or simply removing barriers to make operating a school easier, the education community as a whole thanks you for your contributions. On behalf of the children, teachers, administrators and school boards that you have impacted, know that you are appreciated.

Remember, as Partners in Education, your job is never done. There will always be more children with whom we can share opportunities. There will also always be room for new partnerships to be formed. Please consider sharing your experiences as an education collaborator with your contacts. The more partnerships we are able to establish, the more benefits students are able to receive.

Once again, thank you for all that you do.
Congratulations 2012 Partners in Education.
Please enjoy this occasion as we celebrate YOU.
